Not illustrated. 1917 edition. Excerpt: . Two Protectionist Fallacies, widely propagated in all countries and specially mischievous in the United States (to the point of possibly inducing many people to fear an economic peace!) need, in this place, an answer. We therefore beg to reproduce here some passages already met in the foregoing pages, to which we shall add some short considerations: Tariffs, in all countries, have been instituted in order to encourage and protect capital engaged in industries. They now everywhere protect high selling prices and high manufacturing profits. But, in all countries (be it noted) they are continued for the protection of labor against the cheap foreign labor products. Except in England, where labor stands for free-trade, the workmen are happy to be so well cared for. I protect my cows, says the farmer. I know why I do this, but the cows do not. So...

Reviews

This publication is amazing. It is definitely basic but shocks in the fifty percent of your publication. You wont feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you question me).

-- Prof. Kirk Cruickshank DDS

This kind of book is every little thing and taught me to looking ahead of time and a lot more. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. I found out this book from my dad and i encouraged this pdf to find out.
