

Cracker 929: In-Flight Refueling (Paperback)

By Elbert Alberson

Createspace, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Cracker 929 is the call sign for this plane, a KC-97 flying for the Strategic Air Command stationed in Savannah, Georgia, in 1960. Taylor Young joined the Air Force and after training, became a Crew Chief on this plane for in-flight refueling of B-52 s and B-47 s. Taylor joined the service for all the right reasons. He wanted to do his part to keep his country safe like his father had in WWII. He wanted to let the service make a man out of him and to give him training that would lead to a career after leaving the service. The Air Force did all that and more. He was a young man that had been an adult all his life to help his mother raise three boys alone. He was the oldest of the three. He knew what work was for he had been working at something since he was 11 years old. He knew what responsibility was because he was always responsible for his brothers. He knew what discipline was because his mother made sure...
